A QUAKER MEETING.

The Old-Fashioned Friends Appear at Chapel -- A Concern Felt for Our Institution.

The senior academy class surprised everybody by the manner in which they took charge of the chapel exercises Tuesday, May 12. The girls, dressed in the plain bonnets and shawls, and the boys with the broad-brimmed hats and long coats of the early Friends, very quietly, one by one, took their places on the platform. After a period of silent waiting, Sister Louise arose and told the Friends of her concern for the "faculty and students of our beloved institutions." Her concern was mostly for the wanton extravagance of this generation, mingled with other weaknesses of the faculty and students, of which she hears much. With one exception, each Friend present felt a deep concern over some fault or waywardness of our faculty and students.

Brother Ross impressed us deeply by his excellent representation of an elderly Quaker brother.

Sister Esther betrayed her Quaker ancestry when she gave her concern about politics getting our dear president, and by using the "tune" in which the early Friends delivered their messages.

Suffice it to say that our "beloved" faculty had an excellent opportunity in which to see many of their short comings, as they appear to others.

Mack Leaves the Field

When McMinnville College came to Newberg for the election day game they expected to have very little trouble in winning. However, they received a "jolt" and when they woke up the score was six to six and nine innings had been played. The awakening was so sudden that they forgot to show what is generally considered a sportsmen's-like conduct. By using the excuse that they must catch a car (which did not leave for thirty-five minutes and stopped within two blocks of the field) they declined to play any more. The manager and captain of the Pacific team offered to take the visitors to McMinnville in autos free of charge if they missed the train. All which offers were turned down, and, finally the umpire, seeing the real reason for not wanting to play any more, declared that the game was forfeited to P. C.

The game was interesting and both teams were playing hard throughout. Errors by the locals in the early part of the game gave Mac a lead. George began to pitch for P. C. and pitched four innings. Then Gulley was placed in the box for the remainder of the game. He was a little wild at times, forcing in one run by walking a man when the bases were full. The next man up was fanned.

Mac used three pitchers. McKnight pitched for eight innings when he was batted from the box. The next pitcher was Farrell, who did not have anything that was hard to find. Pacific had tallied three scores and had one man on bases when Farrell was taken out of the box. "Skow" Stewart took his place. Elliott was at bat and sent a fly to left field, which the fielders could not handle. The next man up made the third out.

Prof. Launer of Newberg H. S. umpired. The coach of the visiting team came out in the field to dispute some of his decisions, forgetting that there was a captain who was supposed to look after such matters.

P. U. Wins Ragged Game

Pacific College lost the first game of the season on the home grounds May 7. Both teams seemed to try to outdo the other on making errors. The day was cloudy and light showers fell several times. Ireland and Ireland were the battery for P. U. during the first part of the game, later Ireland was removed from the box and Patton went in. Ireland allowed eight hits, while the visitors secured only four off of Gulley, who was pitching for the locals. In the ninth George took Gulley's place.

Vestal, catching for P. C. had a mashed finger. This made it hard for him to conceal his signals, which fact P. U. was not slow to take advantage of, for they gave the signal to the batter during the greater part of the game. George had his batting eye open in this game for he made two two-baggers, once out and one single in five innings. P. C. had men on bases several times, but could not bring them home. Slater, of Newberg High was the umpire.

Pacific Loses at McMinnville —Score 4 to 3

On April 5th Capt. Butt took his team to McMinnville and opened the season there. The day was ideal for an opening game and a large body of fans were out to root for the home team. The game was close from the start till the last man was out, and was hard fought at all times. Gulley and Vestal were the battery for P. C. Stewart pitched for Mac, while Adams was catcher. Both pitchers were working good and hits were about even. With first inning Pacific made two in the fifth; Mac made three runs and another in the sixth. Pacific made two in the fifth and one in the sixth. Neither team could do anything during the remainder of the game. Most of McMinnville's runs were made on errors. "Biddy" Bishop umpired a good game.

PEACE PIPE IS BROKEN

Quakers Defeated by Indians in the First Encounter, May 2.

To the tune of 10 to 1 the Quaker lads met with defeat at the tomahawk of the Indian braves at Chemawa May 2. Adams, of the Indians, proved to be the speediest man on the mound that the college boys have faced this season, and while they succeeded in getting six hits, against ten by the Indians, the score can largely be accounted for by errors.

Each team scored one run in the initial encounter, the Braves two in the sixth, while in the eighth seven runs were made away with before the visitors could call a halt. George was removed to first and Gulley placed on the mound, and the Redmen were again brought into subjection.

The Quakers have torn down and trampled in the dust the truce flag and intend to give the Indians a reception fitting to the day on May 23 on the home field. P. H. L., '16.

From School Life to Life's School

The character gained in school life is what will largely determine that used in life's school. Few things have the influence on character that the Summer Conferences of the Christian Associations have. The thing gained at these training schools, that lasts the longest, is the vitalized ideals. These ideals may be gained elsewhere, but only by a toilsome process of experience. At these Conferences they are breathed in as part of the air. The secret of strong successful lives is clear, vital ideals. The student who desires to live that kind of a life, should plan to attend the Summer Conference at least once in his course.

A newspaper is a newspaper no matter who the editors are. Since the Crescent is a newspaper, it must give events that have occurred, even if it is edited by a class. This has prevented any extensive or elaborate scheme of editing, and has caused the Juniors to rely almost entirely on routine material. Although they have been represented in all lines of college activity, they have not attempted to give their work in the school any special review.

Junior-Senior Banquet

Thursday, May 7, the members of the two upper classes assembled at the home of Mrs. L. M. Parker for their annual banquet. By the hour of 8:20 the guests had all arrived, and we proceeded at once to the dining room, which was the center of attraction for the next two or three hours. After a preliminary of oyster cocktail, we began on the real business of the evening, of which there was an unusual amount. The roast chicken with dressing and gravy was disposed of with amazing rapidity, and the olives followed immediately. Then presently "angle" cake and a fruit salad made their appearance, only to meet a like fate. Salmon a la Newberg, which was taken up during the first part of the session, met with a very warm reception, but nevertheless did not remain long. When in the course of events it became time for coffee and almonds to remain on the table, the order of service was changed. Toastmaster Harry H. Hayworth introduced the speakers of the evening, something after the usual manner, as follows:

1. "Much Study is a Weariness to the Flesh," Mr. R. Melvin Elliott, '14.

2. "Lo, the Winter is Past," Miss Elma Paulsen, '14.

3. "The Race is Not to the Swift, Nor the Battle to the Strong," Mr. Lisle Hubbard, '15.

4. "Go Thy Way," Mr. Ernest H. R. Thun, '14.

5. "Remove Not the Ancient Land Mark," Mr. Olin C. Hadley, '14.

6. "A Merry Heart Doth Good, Like a Medicine," Mr. Walter H. Wilson, '15.

The sage advice given by the seniors was taken deeply to heart by the younger generation, especially in regard to love affairs, and we think that we shall profit thereby. The case that developed that evening seems to be doing nicely, and from all indications there may be further need of Brother Wilson's services.

When the last word had been said and the last song sung the company broke up, with a feeling of closer friendship and mutual understanding between the two classes. Therefore, we feel that the evening was not spent in vain.

After school on Monday, April 27, a paper chase was held. Nine entered, all of whom went over the entire course in more or less time. The course was about four miles long, half of which followed the canyon, crossing the creek several times. Wood and Keeney were the first men in.

Dr. Price Presents Organ to the Y. W. C. A.

On April 29, Rev. C. O. Whiteley led the Y. W. meeting. His subject was "Modesty". He said that just as humility ceases to be humility when pride is taken in it, so modesty loses its reality when it becomes conscious of itself. The girls appreciated his talk very much.

The meeting for May 6 was led by Mildred Benson by use of an appropriate scripture reading, and by her own example she made it a very successful praise meeting.

Stella Hubbard and Ina Mellinger had charge of the meeting on May 13. The topic was "Watchwords." The girls gave us some very good suggestions as to watchwords and very helpful ones were suggested during the meeting.

As an experiment the monthly business meeting was held at noon, May 8, instead of after school. The attendance was very much better. At this meeting Mrs. Hodgins was chosen as an advisory member for the association.

The membership committee is taking up plans to obtain a large representation at the Cohasset Beach Summer Conference, and they have begun a membership canvas.

Some time ago the girls arranged with Dr. Price for the purchase of an organ for the Y. W. C. A. When offered the money a short time ago, he refused it. The girls will certainly regard him as their friend hereafter.

STUDENT VOLUNTEER BAND.

The Student Volunteer Band, which meets every Sunday afternoon in the dormitory parlors, has at present a membership of fifteen. The study of "The Foreign Missionary" has been taken up in the meetings. Miss Carrie Wood, a returned missionary from India, visited the band a few weeks ago and gave a very interesting and helpful talk on her work there; also some good advice to the volunteers.

Slogan: *Twelve Men at Columbia Beach
This Summer.*

The Y. M. C. A. meeting of April 22 was a missionary meeting and was led by three different men. Prof. Mendenhall spoke concerning the conditions in Mexico, and about the work being done there, while Lisle Hubbard mentioned some of the bad conditions in South America, and Ellis Pickett spoke of the opportunities in that field.

On April 29 the Y. M. C. A. meeting was led by some of the fellows who have recently entered into the Christian life, various ones speaking of the problems that the young Christian has to face. Such talks are helpful in bringing the men closer together.

Charles O. Whitely was to have led the meeting on May 6, but could not be present, so most of the association period was very profitably spent in singing.

Gale Seaman spent part of a day with us recently in the interest of the summer conference at Columbia Beach, and talked to as many fellows as possible in the limited time. Prospects are good for a fine delegation from Pacific College this year. Six or seven are practically sure of going, and others are quite favorable. We hope to have twelve men, and thereby have two tents at the beach. Let every fellow who has been there boost hard.

The Y. M. C. A. meeting on May 13 was a Columbia Beach rally, the men who are planning on going each telling why he wants to go. Let's go. It pays.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

The Athletic Association elected officers as follows: Arthur Benson, president; Everett George, vice-president; Clarence Jones, secretary; Ross Miles, treasurer; Delbert Repogle, basketball manager. Dale Butt resigned as baseball manager and R. Melvin Elliott was elected to fill the vacancy.

All passenger trains stop at the college now if you want to get on or off there.

Miss Eunice Lewis, professor of German, is home again, after a year's graduate work at the University of California. Note: You can't tell when she'll visit that German class of yours.

May 4, Dr. T. W. Hester gave us a very practical talk on "How to Spend Your Money."

Miss Lesta Cook was called to her home in Portland, May 12, on account of the sickness of her sister, who has undergone an operation.

EXCHANGES.

We find the March issue of The Oak, Washington Intermediate School, Berkeley, Calif., very good in many respects. You have a variety of stories, some of which have good thought, and well expressed. Others seem to lack thought.

The Odessaite (Odessa High School, Odessa, Wash.: Exchange editor is to be congratulated upon her originality in writing up the exchanges for the spring number.

The O. A. C. Bulletin, Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, Oregon: We are glad to note that your editorials are constantly improving. They are of a much higher class than they were earlier in the school year.
